Data Papers – Peer Reviewed Publication of High Quality
Data Sets

Paul Newman and Peter Corke

International Journal of Robotics Research 28(5): 587
DOI: 10.1177/0278364909104283

Typographical errors were published in the above article, right-hand column, first paragraph beginning ‘It is the intent of IJRR...’ The correct paragraph appears below:

It is the intent of IJRR to solicit archival quality data, which means the provision of an archival service to authors. This will be an ongoing process, and while we aim ultimately to host all datasets and their supporting websites, it is anticipated that initially many data papers will refer to websites hosted by the authors.
